

Free Me...

Agony crept like vines on a fence
Choking all until not one can breathe
The terror swelled
As that door of light closed
Hope, like a bird, flew away
Their dreams, so perfectly planned
Now tumbled into darkness
Within its vicious hold
No sound came
Only the harsh melody of the sea played on
A small joy, compared to the yelling of the devils
Together, they'll endure it
With courage and faith, they'll live through this
And be free...

