

Freedom

Freedom is like a dog without a leash
To hold it back from it running through grass,
Or a person with a passport
 To wonder the whole world and what wonders it has
 Like a person driving on the highway
 With the wind blowing their hair back
 Not having a care in the world.